Record Area Tax Tops $15 Millions

Quad-City Bill Due
This Year Up 16%
Over '67 Extension

Quad-City area taxpayers will receive an all-time record tax bill of $15,134,718, due for payment this summer, it was disclosed today following completion of new Venice and Nameoki township tax books by the county clerk's office at Edwardsville.

The total tax extension for the four townships of the area—Granite City, Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau—includes $14,786,542 in local real estate and personal property taxes that will be collected by township collectors, and $388,176 in railroad taxes that are paid directly to the county treasurer.

The area-wide extension is up 16% over last year's aggregate of $12,645,600 in local tax and $337,170 in railroad tax to a total billing of $12,982,770.

On this basis, the taxpayers of the four townships will be billed in about six weeks for payment of $2,146,888 more in taxes this year than they were during the 1968 summer collection period.

Venice, Nameoki Tax County Clerk Eulalia Hotz announced yesterday that the total extension of 1968 taxes for collection in Nameoki township this year includes $1,578,881 in local taxes and $82,071 in rail taxes for a total billing of $1,660,952.

This is an increase of $235,561 over last year's Nameoki township tax bill of $1,425,391 which was made up of $1,348,867 local tax and $76,524 in rail tax.

Miss Hotz said the new 1968 extension for Venice township to be collected this year totals $2,860,728 in local taxes and $156,691 in rail taxes for an aggregate of $3,017,419.

This compares with a tax bill last year of $2,885,514 in Venice township taxes, made up of $2,727,328 in local taxes and $158,186 in railroad taxes.

Largest tax bill increase will be in Granite City township where the local extension, announced earlier, amounts to $9,170,870 and the rail extension to $90,802 for a total of $9,261,672 to be collected this year.

These figures represent an increase of $1,632,613 over last year's local tax billing of $7,629,059, and an increase of $758,400 over last year's rail tax bill of $432,718 for an aggregate of $7,887,457 billed in Granite City township last year.

Chouteau Billing
This year's Chouteau township extension includes $1,177,385 in local taxes and $64,712 in railroad taxes for a total bill of $1,242,097.

The total is $14,727,444 higher than the tax extension last year which topped $13,031,208 in local taxes and $35,594 in rail tax for a total of $13,066,802.

The area-wide tax increase results from a combination of

Bronze Star Medal For Marine Cpl. Belmer

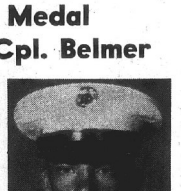

Marine Cpl. David M. Belmer, a son of Rev. and Mrs. Ivan M. Belmer, 2212 Waterman avenue, has received the Bronze Star for heroic actions above and beyond the call of duty during March of this year.

His parents just received the citation which read in part: "During the morning of March 2, 1968, enemy rocket fire on Marine Aircraft Group 12 positions initiated a chain reaction of explosions in the Marine Attack Squadron 211 and Marine Attack Squadron 311 aircraft reverents. Fire immediately spread to a nearby munitions dump containing numerous high explosive bombs, rockets and fuses.

"The burning aircraft were also badly damaged with ordnance. Within seconds of the initial blast, Cpl. Belmer was found at the aid of other courageous Marines, disregarding his own life by running to the scene to look for injured personnel.

"Discovering none, he and others like himself began pushing adjacent aircraft away from the fiercely burning aircraft in an attempt to save as many as possible.

"Fully aware that his life was in grave danger and knocked off his feet by blasts and concussion at one time and again, Cpl. Belmer continually returned to perform tasks far above and beyond the call of duty."

CPL. DAVID M. BELMER
Bronze Star Winner

During the past week, Cpl. Belmer was awarded the Air Medal during ceremonies in Vietnam while serving as a member of Headquarters and Maintenance Squadron 12, First Marine Aircraft Wing.

A 1965 graduate of Granite City high school, he attended SIU-SW before entering the service.

He will arrive home on May 20 for a 30-day leave and has signed over for another tour of duty in Vietnam for seven months.

School Building Bonds Ready

Sale of $4.7 Million
Issue To Be Completed Within Next Two Weeks

Contract for a $4.75 million surety bond for Granite City School Assessor George Moore was approved and final plans for completing the school building bond issue sale within the next two weeks were completed by the board of education Monday night.

School board members also concurred in a motion by Moore that investment of the bond sale proceeds pending development of a definite school construction schedule should "continue to be handled by local sources."

The bonds—950 of them in denominations of $500 each—were delivered yesterday to William Schooley, school bond attorney. Schooley said they will be prepared under arrangements approved by the board for Monday night for delivery to the LaSalle National Bank at Chicago for bonding by Transamerica Insurance Co. The bank was among a group of investors taking up the issue at 9% interest.

In approving a surety bond for Treasurer Moore on Monday night's meeting, the school board accepted the lowest bid submitted by the Kaegeel Real Estate & Insurance Co. for bonding by Transamerica Insurance Co. Kaegeel's premium bid was $2078 per year.

Lowest Premium Bid
The $2078 Kaegeel bid was $2722 lower than the top bid of $5350 submitted by the Lueders Agency for the Insurance Co. for bonding by National American, and $381 lower than the second lowest bid of $2529 submitted by the Reinhold Agency for Illinois National Insurance.

Other bids were: $3523 by Miller Wolf Realty Co. (St. Paul, Minn.); $3405 by Morris Realty Co. (Hartford Insurance Group); $3119 by Gilchick Agency (American Manufacturing Mutual), and $2816 by Norman-Holsinger (Fireman's Insurance Co. of St. Louis).

Comptroller V. G. Anderson reported to the board that specifications for bidding on the school bond provided that bidding companies indicate a procedure for premium determination in subsequent years.

Air Board Bypasses State on Grant Plea

The Granite City Air Pollution Control Board has appealed directly to the federal regional air control agency at Chicago for assistance in obtaining approval of a federal grant application for $22,500 that has been blocked by Illinois state air board officials.

Henry Bienecki, chairman of the Granite City air board, said a letter has been sent to Robert Chancellor, a federal air control representative at Chicago, informing him that the Illinois State Air Pollution Control Board has failed to provide Granite City with suggested modifications of the grant application as state officials agreed to do in Chancellor's presence at a meeting in Springfield April 23.

The controversy became public in the Granite City air board's regular meeting Monday night in which Bienecki reported results of the Springfield meeting between Chancellor, Robert French, representative of the state board, and Bienecki, Mayor Donald Patrick and Prof. Edwin Hoelscher, acting technical secretary of the city Air Board. Bienecki revealed at the same time that a letter which French promised to send the local board, listing modifications of the grant application that would satisfy the state board, has not been received.

Former Madison Resident Killed In Traffic Mishap

Julius O. (Peanuts) Morris, 46, of 1228 North Fortieth street, East St. Louis, a former resident of Madison, was one of three persons killed in a car crash on U. S. Highway 460 two miles south of Belleville about 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Morris, a passenger in an eastbound car driven by Lendell Phelps Jr., 20, who was to be his future son-in-law, was killed on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Belleville. Phelps was admitted to the hospital with cuts and bruises and in a state of shock.

They were enroute to Lenzberg, Ill., on a fishing trip when the accident occurred. Phelps was attempting to pass three cars when he collided head-on with an auto driven by Donette Eggeneyer, 20, of Sparta, according to the state police. Miss Eggeneyer died at the hospital at 2:05 a.m. Wednesday.

Morris, a native of Madison, had lived in East St. Louis for the past 17 years. He is a graduate of Madison high school and attended the University of Arkansas. A world war II veteran of the Air Force and Marine Corps, he served overseas in England and Germany.

Well-known in the Quad-City area as a professional musician, he was also employed as a storekeeper for the Midwest Rubber Co. East St. Louis. He was a member of the Musicians' Union Locals in both East St. Louis and St. Louis.

Survivors include his wife, Shirley, and two daughters at home, Karen Morris, 21, and Kimberly Morris; three; and one sister, Mrs. Leonard (Rae) Miller of Granite City.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

$4000 Fire Damage To Venice Odd Fellows Hall
Damage estimated at $4000 was caused by fire at 8:40 p.m. Monday to the two-story, frame building housing the Venice Odd Fellows Hall at 123 Granville street. Fireburnings on the main floor of the building, which contained water damage, firemen said.

The fire apparently originated in the wall on the second side of the building and spread upward into the meeting hall on the second floor. The building is valued at $12,000 and the contents at $3000. Cause of the blaze was undetermined, firemen said. Firemen were at the scene two hours.

Hospital To Add 2 Floors To Annex

7th, 8th Floors Will Provide 100 More Beds
To Put Total at 400

Further expansion at St. Elizabeth Hospital to include the originally planned seventh and eighth floors to the annex now under construction at 21st and Iowa streets, was announced today by Sister Mary Thomas, administrator.

With the two floors, not included in the current project, the hospital will add 100 more beds to put its capacity at 389 general acute beds and 48 extended care beds. Cost of the added facilities will be between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000.

Sister Mary Thomas and Lyle F. Guiley, president of the Hospital Associates, pointed out that continuing studies of the hospital situation in the local community show that while this will be a great financial undertaking, "there is every reason to believe it will be much more economical, in the long run, to go ahead now than to wait, especially since a critical bed shortage already exists."

The study also brought out recent indications that federal financial aid to hospitals through the Hill-Burton Act may be either drastically curtailed or eliminated entirely next year.

In deciding to proceed with the added floors in the current $8,000,000 expansion-modernization program the Associates pointed out that frequently there are not accommodations for surgical or other patients and that with the area's growing population, the situation can only worsen.

By having the facilities earlier, not only will there be adequate accommodations for the

The ordinance provides for a fine not to exceed $500 on any violations.

A plan by the state home economics extension advisor, Mrs. Kathleen R. Maulk, to conduct food and nutrition classes at the West Madison Memorial Center, was approved.

MORE ABOUT School

In addition to being the low premium bidder, the Kael firm also was the only bidder to provide an actual dollar documentation of renewal premium cost, the board was told.

Arrangements for signing the bonds and delivering them to the Chicago bank where Moore will receive a check for $4,750,000 for the school building program were made by the school board after adopting Moore's motion that investment of the bond money be "kept at home."

Moore told the board that he had been contacted by a representative of the A. G. Becker Co. of Chicago wanting to handle the bond fund investments.

"I feel, however, that since our local bond depository has been most cooperative in the past in this respect, and since I believe that our recent investment practices have been reasonably successful, investment of funds should continue to be handled through local sources," Moore said.

Although exact planning is not possible at this time as to exact maturity dates of purchases, due to the lack of a definite construction program, Moore said that any excess funds can always be reinvested.

Moore suggested that the board hold a cash reserve of $250,000 which would cover immediate costs of the school land tracts, legal fees, printing of the bonds, preliminary drawings and other immediate costs, with the remaining $4.5 million to be invested.

The board concurred in Moore's recommendation that $2.5 million be invested in U.S. Treasury bills with maturity dates later this year and during the first half of 1970, and that $2 million be invested in certificates of deposit of Federal National Mortgage Association Certificates to mature in one year.

The $50 bonds must be signed by the school board president, Dr. E. W. Walton, Secretary Donald W. Stucke and Moore as treasurer.

Schools explained that the No. 1 bond will be signed immediately. This bond must then be forwarded to Chapman and Cutler, a Chicago bond authority, for a ruling as to legal sufficiency of the bonds. This approval should be available within a matter of hours after the firm receives the first signed bond, Schooley said.

The board arranged Monday night that the board president and secretary will sign the remaining 949 bonds here. Moore and Schooley then will take the bonds to the Chicago bank where Moore will sign them. The $4,750,000 check then will be given to Moore.

Schooley said the local procedure will be completed in time to permit the trip to Chicago and final action on the bond sale possibly by next Wednesday.

MORE ABOUT Air Board

quested that state officials suggest modifications of its program and terms of the grant application that would satisfy the state. This was never received, the board president said.

The meeting in Springfield April 23 was arranged to bring all of the interested parties to an attempt in an attempt to resolve the issue and clear the way for a federal grant which, Bielecki said, the federal government stands ready to approve.

Things Went Smoothly
"At first everything went along smoothly and we (Bielecki, Partney and Hoelscher) felt there was a meeting of minds on the problem," Bielecki related.

But in subsequent discussion, he continued, French became seriously upset and said he was "extremely dissatisfied" with a statement contained in the grant application to the effect that the Granite City Air board was willing to cooperate in the Federal regional plan for air pollution control.

"French insisted that the state is doing everything that needs to be done in Granite City and that a grant for expanded operation by the local board was not justified," Bielecki said.

"Partney then told French that if that were the case there was no need of our being there. Partney asked French to write us a letter guaranteeing that the state would take over the sampling, receive all the complaints and do all of the enforcement work, and we would step down," Bielecki reported.

Changes Tune
According to Bielecki, French "backed down" at this suggestion and explained that the state has a minimum of agents to carry out its state-wide program. Bielecki said that at this point Chancellor suggested that French's objection to the Granite City promise of cooperation in regional control was a "minor point and nothing to get upset about."

"By the time the meeting ended, things had calmed down and French, on Chancellor's suggestion, agreed to send to the Granite City board a list of modifications the state would require to go along with the Granite City grant application," Bielecki related. French said the letter would be sent before the Granite City Air board's next meeting which was Monday night.

Instead, Bielecki said, Granite City received only a telegram, again over Dr. Yoder's signature, repeating the earlier assertions by letters that the state does not object to the present Granite City air control program, but that its representatives do not justify the federal grant. Bielecki said no suggested modifications were received.

Bielecki said the letter to Chancellor points out that the state has not listed the suggested modifications and appeals to Chancellor to aid the Granite City board in clearing the grant application "because the city needs the money now."

Equipment Working
In other regular board action Monday night, Prof. Hoelscher reported that the Granite City Steel Co.'s dust collection equipment is working satisfactorily and that there has been no recent evidence of dust tracking. Hoelscher said that he believes the dust problem now is merely a matter of "housekeeping."

The board also decided to request permission of the Granite City council to hire David Brooman of the firm of Ryck-

75 Workers at National Lead Back on Jobs

About 75 employees of the National Lead Co. Hoyt plant were staged a brief walkout Monday and Tuesday, but were reported back on their jobs today at the request of district and international officials of the United Steel Workers.

The striking workers, members of United Steel Workers Local 6496, comprise about half the production force at the plant, according to a company spokesman. He said the men gave the company no specific causes for the walkout, and pointed out the strike was unauthorized.

The walkout began at noon Monday, but by Tuesday the workers began returning to their jobs. Plant operations were near normal this morning, the spokesman said.

George Becker, representative of Granite City USWA sub-district, said the strike had not been authorized and that the men returned to their work at the request of USWA officials and that any grievances be taken through regular grievance procedure.

Group Invades Madison Center, Attacks Youths

Lincoln LeFlore, 18, of Brooklyn, was arrested by Madison police late last night as one of a group of about ten Negro youths who invaded the Tri-City Cue Center at 705 Madison avenue, beat several white youths who were playing pool and then fled in three autos.

Authorities reported the group of Negroes entered the Cue Center from a rear door, gathered around the billiard table and then began to beat several of them. Several of the white youths ran out the front door. They reported they heard a shot fired and then saw the Negroes run from the place.

The three cars occupied by the intruders fled toward Venice. Police said they arrested LeFlore as the owner of one of the cars which officers recognized. LeFlore was charged with disorderly conduct and released on notice to appear for hearing June 4.

Job openings in the Quad-City area are still plentiful, according to Malcolm A. Thompson, manager of the Illinois State Employment Service.

Most of the openings are in jobs traditionally filled by men, Thompson said, such as foundry workers, welders, plant laborers, ground-keepers, farm equipment salesmen, automotive mechanics, auto salesmen, auto parts managers, draftsmen (experienced), radio equipment installers, tool and die makers and life insurance salesmen.

A few jobs such as stenographers, clerks, typists, key-punch operators and waitress positions are filled by women also available.

Applicants are urged to call at the local ISES office, 2000 Iowa street, for registration or further information.

GCHS Moves to Obtain Lush Turf for Football

Granite City high school may develop an adequate turf this summer for the next football season.

The board of education approved an outlay of $5000 to provide equipment for a watering system during a meeting Monday night on the recommendation of Joe Fedora, athletic director.

The cost estimate includes 20-foot lengths of portable aluminum pipe, sprinklers, pump and complete installation, and could be handled by two custodians.

Fedora complained that "we have been waiting an uphill battle to attain adequate turf on our present football field with our present method and inadequate watering during the summer months, we have at best been able to provide a thin layer of grass, which usually dissipates before the football season is completed.

He said Madison high school has one of the best football fields in the area because of a constant deluge of water through the summer months.

The watering system is to be placed at the north end of the field and also will accommodate the practice field and would eliminate the "hard ground which we are all concerned about and also tired of hearing about."

He noted that the field also is used for junior high, sophomore and junior varsity football games plus varsity soccer games.

Council Oks Study in Effort To Halt Sewer Line Breaks

With the prediction of another break—the fourth along the Lynch avenue sanitary sewer line—Granite City council members authorized preliminary studies by a Minneapolis firm to determine if the line can be relined to prevent further breaks or if it should be replaced.

The action was taken during a special meeting called Monday night to secure a contract price, to be reviewed at a regular council session next Monday.

Council members met for two hours with L. E. Gottstein, president of the American Pipe Services Co., Minneapolis, who outlined a 10-step sewer program with emphasis on systematic cleaning and maintenance, along with necessary television inspection and other testing of questionable lines.

City Engineer Kenneth Kieberger told council members there is evidence that the fourth break in the Lynch avenue line will occur within 30 days. This will be closer to Maryville road, he explained.

He added that the St. Clair avenue line is questionable, and that the council might want to replace it entirely—especially with the rapid, anticipated growth east of Maryville road, where apartments and duplex dwellings are being constructed.

Nearing Capacity Flow
He pointed out the present 8 and 10-inch line under St. Clair avenue is nearing capacity flow and may be too small in a matter of five years. A 24-inch line was suggested, should the council decide on replacement, rather than repairs.

Council members voted unanimously for preliminary studies along both lines—400 feet of sewer—to determine if television inspection is to be made.

With the infiltration of ground water and sand, the first step would be to determine the water table of the ground in which the troublesome sewers are located.

The sewers then would have to be cleaned so that the television camera would be able to float through. The proper method would be bucket cleaning—a system recently abandoned by the city street department in

MHS Humanities Class Holds Special Session

The Humanities Classes of Madison high school, including the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes met jointly Wednesday for a special session to hear Mrs. Josephine Anthony, professor of Retailing at Meramec Community College of St. Louis.

Her topic, "How An Educated Person Lives Creatively in the World Today," was associated with the class's objectives of cultural development. Six students, Rosemarie Hackett, Janis Stewart, Donna White, Terry Planitz, Tommy Noel and Robert Burris, made up a panel to further discuss the topic with the speaker.

This first year program is under the direction of Mrs. Marguerite Connolly. Eighty students attended the afternoon program.

Undergoes Surgery

R. Marvin Eddington of Collinsville, formerly of Granite City, returned home Tuesday from Decatur, Ill., where he was recuperating from back surgery which he underwent at a hospital there May 7.

business—approval of the agreement for storm water sewer lines in the Kirkpatrick Homes area.

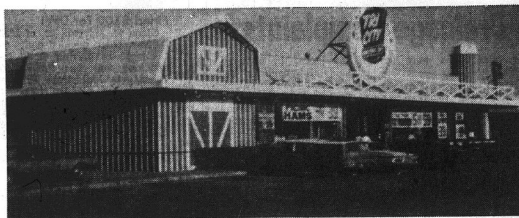

He explained the ordinance with the agreement had become available 45 minutes before the special session, and that action was requested so that work on the storm lines could begin immediately.

Alderman Robertson asked if it was proper and if the permission was granted if the special session could be opened for other business, such as a discussion on the type of chemical spray for mosquitoes and insects.

It was decided by the council to restrict the additional action to the housing project easements.

In the agreement, the city is to restore the condition of roads and yards as near as possible to the original, and in the event a gas line is ruptured, pilot lights are to be relighted within a period of four hours.

It was explained the gas lines at the project are on a circuit. In addition, traffic lanes are to be left open for emergency vehicles.

FARMYARD ATMOSPHERE signifies "farm freshness" at the Bellemore Village Tri-City supermarket with a barn, silo and white fence.

Tri-City Remodels For 'Farm Look' At Bellemore

Completion of a $40,000 remodeling project at the Bellemore Village Tri-City supermarket, both inside and out, to give that "farm freshness" appearance, was announced this week by the firm's president, S. E. Pershall Jr.

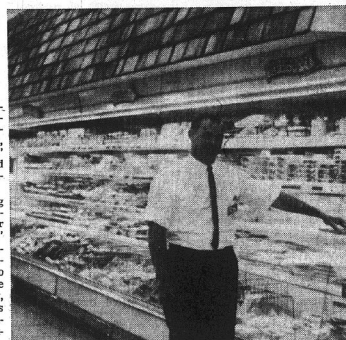

Store employees are inviting Quad-Cityans to visit the remodeled store to "look it over" and have a free cup of coffee.

For the remodeling festivities, the store is giving a Melmac creamer and sugar set to each woman who visits the store on Friday and Saturday, May 16 and 17, and free prizes will be offered in a quiz contest to be held Friday and Saturday inside the store.

On the outside, a new barnyard-like facade—complete with barn, silo and white fence—provide the farm atmosphere that also is carried out on the inside.

With the interior remodeling, William Ogden, grocery manager, is calling attention to the 152 lineal feet of new air-curtained frozen food cases, which hold more frozen foods than any other supermarket in the two-state metropolitan area.

Produce Manager David Smith now has 96 feet of new produce display cases, and David Huffstutler, assistant grocery manager, is completing arrangement of 56 lineal feet of new air-curtained dairy cases. Al Knuckstedt, meat manager, has 109 lineal feet of fresh meat display cases.

Nameoki Twp. Residents File Drainage Complaints

Complaints by Nameoki township residents stemming from poor drainage conditions in the Dobrey Slough area, a request to lower the 65 mph speed limit on a township road leading to Arlington Heights and a lengthy discussion by auditors before approving a $10,000 tax anticipation warrant were among issues Monday evening at a meeting of the Nameoki town board.

The Nameoki town board members also voted to retain Nick Vasilief, former Nameoki township attorney, to handle quo warranto proceedings arising from annexation suits filed by former township officials against Granite City.

The legal actions claim that annexation by the municipality of property for Gilguy junior high school and Maryville grade school are not contiguous with city limits.

In retaining Vasilief, the auditors agreed to payments of $1500 for research and legal services carried out by the attorney to date, plus an additional $1000 fee for subsequent services at the time of trial.

Fees are being paid by the board to replace Vasilief, said the fees "are not out of line." He noted that Vasilief has done considerable work in connection with the pending litigation and is familiar with all aspects of the issues.

The new board of auditors also agreed to reimburse Redmond for supervising two rabies control clinics held in the township. Redmond, a State Park Place resident, was replaced last week as township rabies control commissioner.

Auditor Robert W. Beedle was highly critical of a $244 purchase of insecticide chemicals to be used in the township's mosquito spraying machines. He displayed samples of the chemical concentrate, ordered by the previous board, which he stated had been analyzed by a chemist and found not soluble in water and unsuitable for use in a space sprayer.

The label on the chemical container stated it was not recommended for space spraying, nor for use in mosquito abatement, the auditor said.

He further noted that information disclosed the same concentrate chlorinated chemical could be purchased for $4.95 per gallon, per single unit. Beedle commented that the former board of auditors had ordered 220 gallons of the insecticide at a cost of more than $10 per gallon from Bonnie Chem Spec Co., St. Louis.

Beedle told the Press-Record yesterday that further examination of the chemical showed, however, that the concentrated liquid would emulsify in water.

Payment to be Withheld Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs said that the product was recommended for use in the spraying equipment, but agreed with Beedle the chemicals should be returned and payment withheld in light of facts presented by Beedle. It was learned the same chemical has been used by the township on previous occasions.

Briggs recommended purchase of a new spraying unit, commenting that an estimated $300 in repairs are needed to the 1956 model owned by the township.

Highway Commissioner Charles Hanks said the equipment has required "patching up" each season for the past four years. He offered use of a highway department truck until repairs are effected or a new vehicle purchased to enable the immediate operation of the mosquito spraying equipment.

The board voted to have the equipment inspected and estimates submitted on repair costs.

Town Clerk Louis E. Whitsell recommended approval of a $10,000 tax anticipation warrant to finance township expenditures until 1968 taxes are received. He said that insufficient money remains in the town fund to meet payroll and other expenses.

Beedle demurred on the proposed tax warrant, noting that surpluses still exist in other accounts.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD

counts, and suggested that action on the issue be delayed until a complete financial report is furnished on all town funds. "We should know exactly what our needs will be before we borrow money," he said.

"Can't Stop Functions"

Restrictions governing use of other funds for general town purposes were discussed and after comments by Whitsell that "we can't stop the functions of this office just because we are broke," the resolution was adopted without dissent.

In support of action taken recently by Ponten Beach board of trustees, the auditors authorized Schooley to request in writing immediate removal of debris and unclogging of culverts, located off Highway 162 in Stallings, by three railroads to permit drainage from Long Lake into Elm Slough.

A warning that court action will be sought against the railroads if the request is ignored also was advocated by Whitsell, who said the levee of Long Lake rises three feet following a heavy rain.

Jerry Volski, of 2628 Angela drive, an area adjacent to Dobrey Slough with severe drainage problems, notified the board that pumping equipment at the slough was removed this week despite water still remaining in the swamp area. The equipment owned by the East Side Levee District has been in operation at the slough the past several weeks.

It was suggested that a group of concerned residents from Angela drive join with township officials and meet with levee district representatives to find out why the drainage operation has been discontinued and to request an engineering study of the area be undertaken.

Survey Results Sought

Briggs said he understood that a study of the levee district had been completed, but was unable to say if results of the survey were reported. Several residents of Angela drive attended Monday's meeting and agreed to form a joint committee with the auditors.

An attempt will be made to have a 65 mph speed limit lowered on a township road leading from Highway 111 and State Aid Route 35 to the Arlington Heights subdivision.

Two residents of the new residential area, who requested the speed reduction, were told the township has no jurisdiction over posting or enforcement speed restrictions. A bill currently pending in the General Assembly will permit townships to regulate vehicular traffic if adopted, Briggs advised.

Hanks reported a total of 975 vehicles recently was checked on a Thursday using the road. It was noted that the number increases considerably on weekends when additional patrons frequent the Arlington Golf Club.

New Road Planned

A new road is to be constructed to replace the present roadway, but still will remain two lanes, the highway official said. He suggested asking the Madison county highway department to conduct a traffic survey and then request the state to lower the speed limit. He noted that all roads in unincorporated areas are governed by the 65 mph state law.

The Arlington residents reported that a special deputy has been appointed in the area who could enforce the traffic restriction if authorized. One man commented that "concrete trucks travel the road at 60 mph and children walk along the same stretch of roadway."

He said the road was the only means by which children can get from one end of the subdivision to the other without cutting through private property. "To you it's a road, but to us it is a street," he added.

Whitsell asked the status of a Boy Scout Explorer Post, sponsored by the previous board of auditors, commenting that the post adviser, Norman Stawar, has a key to the township building.

Briggs explained the Explorer Post was granted a charter after sponsorship by the town board and permission was given to use the building every Thursday evening.

Some discussion ensued on the advisability of allowing possession of a key by a person other than a township official. Briggs stated that the youths and their adviser have met in the township office for the past two years without inconvenience or complaints. Whitsell reported he has offered to open the building to post members,

Fined $100 for DWI

Glen E. Moran, 22, of 2622 Denver street, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated and was fined $100 Tuesday by Magistrate William Johnson. He pleaded innocent to a charge of resisting arrest and bond was set at $50 pending a hearing on that charge. He was arrested Monday night at 10th street and Edison avenue.

Four Radar Arrests

Speeding tickets were issued to four drivers as police operated a radar unit along Madison avenue Tuesday. Arrested were Sandra A. Crites, Glen Carlson, Edgar J. Pratt, 3131 Wayne avenue; Robert H. Dugan, Lou Juan Hills, Edwardsville; and Evelyn C. Walker, East St. Louis.

but believed the key should be returned.

A $1000 bill, submitted by Township Assessor Joseph Cohan, was referred to the attorney to validate the expenditure, and a request for a raise in salary by Mrs. Dorothy Nenniger, secretary to the town clerk, was deferred until a financial report is furnished by the treasurer on township funds.

Bills approved for payment, included sums of $1006 from the town fund; $146, special hard road fund; and $878, road and bridge account.

The next meeting of the town board was set for 7 p.m. Monday, May 26.

A three-year-old boy suffered minor injuries when a grocery cart collided with a police patrol car driven by Lt. Kenneth J. Watts at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday at the National Foods store, Madison avenue and Nameoki road.

Mrs. Patricia Johnson, 2620 Harding blvd., was pushing the cart from the store onto the drive on the parking lot when it struck the left front fender of the patrol car which was passing by.

The cart swung around and hit the boy, Donald Wayne, who was walking along the side of it.

Price Co-Sponsors Bill To Give GI Tax Aid

Cong. Melvin Price has become a co-sponsor of pending legislation to provide veterans in Korea with tax benefits similar to those provided GI's in Vietnam.

Price said he feels quite strongly about supporting troops' there, especially since the Pueblo incident, the recent loss of 31 American lives in the EC-121 and the incidents near the Korean de-militarized zone.

The tax benefits provide GI's with their first $500 tax free each month—"a small help to men whose duty in Korea closely parallels the hazards of our efforts in Vietnam," Price said.

Mrs. May Sharp, 81, Is Stricken, Dies

Mrs. May Sharp, 81, of 1420 Second street, was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth hospital at 4:30 a.m. Wednesday. She was taken ill suddenly and called her daughter, Mrs. Robert (Beatrice) Welborn, who resided in Madison. Mrs. Welborn found her in bed and arranged to have her taken to the hospital by ambulance. There will be an inquiry to determine the cause of death.

A 50-year resident of Madison, she was born in Grandin, Mo. She was preceded in death by her husband, James Sharp in 1922.

Other than her daughter she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Clarence (Atlas) Langston of Venice; one son, James E. Sharp of Madison; a brother, Ernest Nance, and a sister, Mrs. Tular Wilson both of Grandin, Mo.; 11 grandchildren, 22 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild. Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Shape Desserts
with Canned Puddings

Dessert, honored with a spell-bound reverence afforded no other part of the meal, consumes the majority of space in recipe collections. Each family has its favorites, yet all are anxious to try new ideas.

Gelatin desserts hold special favor with homemakers for they blend the ready-to-serve pudding with softened unflavored gelatin. Then add a few carefully selected accents to enhance the chosen pudding. You'll find a wealth of ideas in the first part of this series.

Available: milk and Dutch chocolate, lemon, French vanilla, and rice with cinnamon.

Here velvety lemon pudding, sliced peaches, and miniature marshmallows shape a pleasing family dessert garnished with additional peaches and green leaves.

Gasoline Barge Climbs Locks 'Wing' at Canal

When the captain of a six barge gasoline tow misjudged the entrance to the Chain of Rocks canal locks about 3 p.m. yesterday, one of the lead barges grounded on a concrete wing abutment at the north entranceway and raised several feet out of the water, a spokesman at the local locks reported today.

To avert a possible explosion, resulting from friction when the grounded barge was dislodged, preventive measures were taken by a U. S. Coast Guard unit summoned to the scene. The barge and attached tows were sprayed with foam.

A smaller tow boat removed three barges to a safe distance in the harbor while the remaining three-barge string was pulled from the wing. The operation took about five hours, the spokesman said.

The National Maritime Co. tow was headed downstream from Wood River, it was learned.

GSI Worker Severely Beaten on Way to Job

James Rose, 45, a St. Louis employee of General Steel Industries in Granite City, was beaten seriously with a baseball bat about 7:15 a.m. today a short distance from General Steel parking lot, Madison police reported.

Rose was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with severe facial injuries, cuts to the back of the head and knee abrasions. Police said they were unable to talk with Rose immediately but that they understood the man was attacked by an irate motorist who accused Rose of forcing him over in traffic, apparently on McKinley bridge as Rose was on his way to work.

Police said that their available information this morning indicated the assailant followed Rose's car and forced it over on State street near the plant entrance. The man is said to have broken the window out of Rose's car with the ball bat, then swung it on Rose.

The Garden Corner

Beans, A Warm Season Crop

Air and soil temperatures are now warm enough for good growth of garden beans. Some early plantings of beans are up and growing vigorously. For a continuous supply of snap beans, make plantings every 10 days until early August.

The bush type of beans should be planted in rows with three to four seeds per foot of row. Pole varieties should be planted in hills three feet apart each way. Navy beans, red kidney beans and edible soybeans are grown much like lima and snap beans. New varieties of beans are being introduced each year and some of these should be planted on a trial basis. Some newer introductions are Astro Cascade, Green Isle, Roundup, and the Polaris pole bean.

Some of the proven varieties for southwestern Illinois are Contender, Harvester and Tendergreen as green bush varieties; Cherokee Wax and Kinghorn Wax as yellow bush varieties; Kentucky Wonder as a green pole variety; and Henderson Bush and Fordhook 242 as lima bean varieties.

Although beans are classified as a warm season crop, they may not do well in hot, dry weather. They require plenty of moisture, and during extremely high temperatures blossoms and pods may drop.

Disease control in beans is primarily a matter of sanitation. Do not handle or work among bean plants when the foliage is wet from dew or rain. Rogue out plants that appear abnormal as soon as the deformed leaves appear. Insect pests can be controlled as they begin to feed on the leaves.

Peach Leaf Curl

Curly leaves on peach trees are caused by a disease and not by man or weather. Peach leaf curl causes many unusual shaped leaves. When the distortion is severe, the leaves will drop off and leave a barren tree.

There is nothing to do for this disease now. Peach leaf curl is controlled with a dormant fungicide spray either late in the fall or in early spring. If most of the leaves drop off this spring, fertilize the tree now with garden fertilizer at the rate of 1/4 to 1/2 pound per year of age of the tree.

Black spots, which are apple scab, are now visible on apple leaves. Unsprayed apple trees have been severely infected with this disease.

Fruits can be infected with scab spores that come from the leaf infections. This will appear as black spots on the fruit that may cause cracked skin or distorted shapes.

This and other fruit diseases are controlled by preventative sprays or dusts. Applications of chemical must be made before infection occurs. Afterwards is too late.

Miss GC to Cut Ribbon Starting Lewis-Clark Hike

Reservations have increased to several hundred for the Lewis and Clark Pilgrimage to take place on Sunday at 3 p.m. announced Floyd Jordan, assistant scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 41 of Mitchell.

Arrangements were made through the Jaycees to have Leetta Marnion, Miss Granite City, cut the ribbon to officially open the hike.

The 2 1/2-mile hike will begin at the Ship-to-Shore Radio Station located at the Chain of Rocks Canal north of I-270 arriving at the Lewis and Clark State Memorial Park for a program at 4 p.m. in honor of the original expedition.

Any member of the Cahokia Mounds Council is eligible to register. "First Day" Pilgrimage patches will not be available the day of the hike but orders will be taken at a cost of $1. Those who wish to register may do so by calling Floyd Jordan at 931-2887 or contact him after 2 p.m. Sunday at the radio station.

GC Steel Co. 'Turns Corner' To Make Profit

Granite City Steel Co. "returned to profitable operations in April after operating at a loss in the last quarter of 1968 and the first of 1969, and expects to operate in the black again this month and in June," Nicholas P. Veeder, chairman and chief executive officer, told the annual meeting of stockholders here Tuesday.

Veeder said, "Granite City Steel has turned the corner" after months of effort to overcome the effects of serious operating difficulties; and a long strike in the blast furnace department which produces molten pig iron, an essential raw material in steelmaking. April was the first month since August in which Granite City Steel has been able to operate both its two blast furnaces.

"Our second blast furnace achieved good levels of production in a relatively short time after it was blown-in," Veeder said. "As a result our basic oxygen furnaces were able to produce 134,000 tons of ingot steel in April."

"We expect a reasonably strong demand for steel during the months ahead. And we are certainly much better prepared to take advantage of the demand at any level than we were a year ago. Then we were contending with major breaking-in problems. Today, we are beginning to see encouraging rates of production from our new facilities."

A native of Granite City, Mr. Smallwood moved to East St. Louis seven years ago. He worked out of the Plaster's Local 90 as a cement mason. He was a member of the Pentecostal faith.

Other survivors are his wife, Betty, and two sisters, Mrs. Herbert (Beulah) Ousley of Madison and Mrs. Gladys Murphy of Granite City.

Funeral services are given in today's obituary column.

EOC Day Care Center Here Open for Clients

The Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission announced today that there are openings for both clients and volunteer workers at the Quad City Day Care Mental Health Center, a facility sponsored by the county anti-poverty agency.

Operated by the EOC at St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 N. Main St., the Mental Health Day Care Center exists to provide therapeutic, recreational and social opportunities for people with emotional disturbances, according to Maurice S. Harris, county EOC director.

Currently, there are 12 clients enrolled at the center, but the facility is capable of accommodating as many as 40 people, Harris said.

Quad-City area residents interested in learning more about the program, either as prospective clients or volunteer personnel, are invited to contact Charles Townsend at Alton State Hospital, or Barbara Shaw, at the EOC office, Edwardsville, 656-8240.

Floyd Smallwood, 55, Former Resident, Dies

Floyd F. Smallwood, 55, of 519 North 30th street, East St. Louis, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Smallwood of Granite City, died at 1:10 p.m. Tuesday at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, of a kidney ailment.

Mr. Smallwood moved to East St. Louis seven years ago. He worked out of the Plaster's Local 90 as a cement mason. He was a member of the Pentecostal faith.

Other survivors are his wife, Betty, and two sisters, Mrs. Herbert (Beulah) Ousley of Madison and Mrs. Gladys Murphy of Granite City.

Funeral services are given in today's obituary column.

Summer Costs at EIU Less than Fall, Winter

A full quarter's education at a $180.78 saving—that's the summer quarter story at Eastern Illinois University. The amount represents the difference between summer and fall quarter costs for the student who lives in a residence hall.

Tuition and service fees for the 10-week summer quarter total $89. Dormitory cost for the quarter is $203, a total of $292. Residence hall cost for the 12-week 1968 fall quarter will be $330. Tuition and fees at $151.75 bring the total to $481.75. Simple subtraction shows the bargain.

For the student who does not live in a dormitory in the summer quarter, the savings in fees alone is $62.75.

A $30 increase to $330 for residence hall room and board for the fall quarter was authorized last April by the Board of Governors of State Colleges and Universities "because of rising costs and increased interest rates on construction bonds."

The increase applies also to the winter quarter. The spring quarter rate remains at $300.

Students Asking Financial Aid For College Work

Ray Page, Illinois superintendent of public instruction, today reported that June high school graduates who plan to enter college in the fall are flooding the state office with requests for the revised booklet, "Financial Aid to Illinois Students."

The booklet is a combined effort of the state office and the American Legion "Need a Lift" program to make the most current guide on financial help available to students.

Lists of candidates for state colleges and universities are being compiled by county superintendents of schools and will be submitted to the state office this month. Candidates are selected according to class rank.

The office of superintendent of public instruction makes available, through the Legislature, teacher education scholarships, which can be used at any state supported four-year college or university in Illinois. Students receiving teacher education scholarships can continue to receive this financial assistance for four calendar years as long as they continue to prepare themselves for teaching in the public schools of Illinois.

Students in all recognized public, private and parochial high schools maintaining the 12th grade are entitled to scholarships based on enrollment. Basically the qualifications for the scholarships are: after seven semesters, the student must rank in the upper half of his class; signify in a letter to his principal his intentions to prepare to teach in public schools in Illinois.

Scholarships are granted to high schools on an enrollment basis. Minimum grants are five scholarships to schools of 500 or less enrollment. An additional scholarship is granted to schools on the basis of one scholarship for every 100 students over 500.

Scholarships to junior colleges (two years) also are

SIU Campuses Receive $8 Million in Grants

Forty-nine federal and state agencies, foundations, research organizations and industries provided more than $8 million in grants to Southern Illinois University in 1968 to help support 189 research and training activities.

A listing of contributions and the projects supported is brought together in the spring issue of Research and Projects Review, published by the SIU Foundation and the Office of Research and Projects.

The $8,316,231 in grant funds ranged from $900,000 for a federal work study program to a $400 University of Illinois grant for a secondary school English study, from a U. S. Department of Justice allocation of $97,234 to support correctional staff training programs to a National Pest Control $3000 grant for research on control of the house mouse.

Among the studies supported are a whole range of educational projects affecting handicapped, emotionally disturbed, gifted or disadvantaged children and youths; use of woods; industrial wastes; fish and wildlife; various agricultural products; use of computers; cancer research; and numerous investigations in science, the social sciences and humanities.

Both the Carbondale and Southern Illinois campuses of the University have shared in these contributions for sponsored research.

awarded on an enrollment basis. Schools under 500 are entitled to four scholarships; schools with 500 to 1000 enrollment are entitled to five scholarships and schools over 1000 students are entitled to six scholarships. Five hundred adult education scholarships and 250 special education scholarships also are awarded each year by the state department.

School Board to Review Marshall School Protests

Investigation into the administrative and teaching conduct at Marshall school was promised by the Granite City board of education Monday night after hearing charges by a delegation of parents that their children are whipped with paddles, frightened by excessive strict discipline during lunch sessions in the cafeteria and frequently sent home without notice for minor infractions.

In a 45-minute discussion touched off by presentation of a petition signed by several dozen parents requesting the investigation, the 12-member delegation told the board that many persons declined to sign the petition because of fear of reprisals to their children for participating in the protest.

Joseph Rainwater, 2337 Fortune drive, who acted as spokesman and presented the petition, said the parents feel that "our children are getting an education in fear." He and other members of the group said their primary protest is to the conduct of the school lunch program where pupils are forbidden to talk or whisper while eating and are "discouraged from eating at the school."

Get Extra Work Rainwater said embarrassing remarks are made to the children about having to eat at the school instead of going home for lunch, and that in many instances teachers have told pupils that they should not eat at the school. Rainwater also told the board that those children who eat at the school not only get extra "housework" assignments but also "get extra homework because they eat lunch at school."

One mother told the board members that whipping children with paddles is not an uncommon practice and that "one teacher has broken three paddles this year." Another mother said that her daughter told her that her teacher made her bend over and touch her toes with her fingertips while she was paddled.

"Our children are just plain scared," one parent said. "They have gotten so they don't want to go to school. If I could sell my house and come out on it, I would move out of the school district tomorrow and I know there are a lot of other parents who feel the same way."

Another mother told the board: "I know there are not too many signatures on that petition, but a lot of persons did not want to sign it for fear of reprisals to their children if they got into it... but if you made a door-to-door canvass, you could come up with 300 to 400 signatures of persons wanting the matter investigated."

The delegation generally expressed the opinion that the

'LaBoheme' to be Presented Here Saturday Evening

"La Boheme" opera will be presented to the Quad-City residents Saturday evening at the Netherlands United Methodist Church by F.A.M.E.—East, the Illinois affiliate of the Friends Artistic and Musical Endeavors. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Making their professional debut will be two other groups, the newly-formed F.A.M.E. Youth Ballet Co. in a 20-minute ballet, "Sylvia," and the concert debut of Mrs. Cathy French, pianist. Mrs. French, a Granite Cityan, has studied with Clayton Henderson of SIU-SW campus and also will accompany the opera artists.

Richard Aults Select Name of New Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ault, 2322 Newell drive, have selected the name of Marta Lyn for their second daughter, born May 1 at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville. She weighed six pounds and eight ounces, and has a three year old sister, Kelly Ann.

The father is a fifth grade teacher at Washington School and Mrs. Ault serves as a substitute teacher in elementary schools.

school lunch program at Marshall school is not wanted at all and that the principal and faculty intentionally discourage the pupils from attending cafeteria sessions.

expects Trouble One father remarked that he expects "plenty of trouble to develop now that we have brought this into the open." He asked the board for its regular meeting dates, commenting that "I suspect we'll have to be back here again."

Dr. E. W. Walton, board president, assured the parents the board would investigate the matter "thoroughly" and suggested that if any parent experienced any difficulty over the matter they "report it to us immediately."

The delegation also pointed out that their complaints did not involve all of the faculty members. "There are some fine teachers at Marshall school, but there also are some who just don't seem to like children at all," one parent remarked.

The group also objected to a practice of sending small children home without notice and without checking to determine if the parents are home.

Seaman Alfred Miller Completes USCG Course

Seaman Apprentice Alfred L. Miller, USCG, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Miller of 3940 Lake street, has been graduated from Electronics Technician School at the U. S. Coast Guard Training Center, Governor's Island, N. Y.

The 18-week course provided instruction in the maintenance and repair of all shipboard and shore-station electronic equipment and other types of communication, detection and ranging equipment employing electronic circuits. He also learned to use many types of precision test equipment such as cathode ray scopes, frequency meters, and vacuum-tube testers.

Rear of Auto Struck

Driving into the path of the auto of Shirley M. Rea, 2101 Terminal avenue, the car of Joseph J. Rainwater, 4944 Lakeview drive, was struck at the right rear about 10 a.m. Tuesday at Myrtle and St. Clair avenues.

Local artists to appear in the production are — Mrs. June Nightingale, in the lead role "Mimi," Mrs. Nita Dale, a lyric soprano, in the role of "Musette," and Stanley Coleman, will sing a dual role, that of "Alcindoro" and "Coline."

Other participating artists are Boyd Sever of Wood River and Robert J. Childers of Godfrey.

Tickets for the performance are $2 and can be obtained in advance from cast members or at Fornasewski Music store, Stanley's Beauty shop and at the door the evening of the performance.

In addition to the show, a portrait booth will be set up for persons wishing to have portraits or other specified works painted by inmate artists. Arrangements will be made on a commission basis. Patients of Menard's Psychiatric Division will display works of leather craft, ceramics and hand work on rugs. These items also will be for sale.

The exhibit will be held in Menard's Educational building from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and will have seven categories, including oil, ink, pencil, pastel, water color and sculpture. The exhibits will be judged by three men from Southern Illinois University's art department prior to the exhibit and ribbons will be awarded.

Musical entertainment will be provided and refreshments served. Children below the age of 16 will not be permitted.

CALLS FOR MAYOR TO SUPPORT COUNCIL

To the Editor: Mayor Partney in his campaign promised the taxpayers of our city, if elected, he would give them an economy program for our city. I happened to know after the city election the majority of the aldermen decided to try more than they have in the past to cooperate with the mayor, thereby restoring harmony, if possible, in the council, but instead the mayor totally refuses with this new economy program that he publicly asked for over the radio in one of his campaign speeches. Specifically he pledged to combine the office of city clerk and the controller, and thereby save the taxpayers many thousands of dollars each year.

The majority of the board of aldermen is backing the mayor in this program in order to gain the much needed harmony in the council, but the mayor is back tracking by refusing to cooperate with this new economy program. More power to the majority of the board of aldermen for they have done everything that is possible to give the mayor what he ask for. But the mayor refuses to carry out his many campaign promises he made to the people while campaigning for the office of mayor.

It is not hard for one to understand this economy move because it will remove a lot of unnecessary expenses. The mayor has been going on for a number of years in our city at the expense of the taxpayers. It looks like that our mayor does not want to understand this is along with a lot of other things that confronts our city and its taxpayers.

I wonder if our mayor and board of police and fire commission know that a little simple move would add two more policemen to our downtown area without adding any more men to the department or without increasing the work load of our police. Also it would give our city more police protection than we have in the present time.

I think it is time for our mayor to listen and start cooperating with the majority of the board of aldermen after all they are elected by the people the same as the mayor. For they are trying to help him. I learned a long time ago that no one man knows it all. It would be wise for the mayor to seek some advice from his aldermen and get the board of police and fire commission of our city. Remember mayor you asked for this its time to act by keeping your many promises. Last but not least always remember mayor you cannot legally override the majority of our aldermen. So if I were you mayor I would think this over.

A 'First' In the Raising of Fish

(American Institute of Biological Sciences)

For the first time, eggs and larvae of tropical fishes from the western Atlantic Ocean have been raised to the juvenile size in the laboratory, according to the University of Miami's Institute of Marine Sciences.

The implications for the practical applications were pointed out by Dr. F. G. Walton Smith, director of the Institute, who said that "the techniques developed and proved successful by the Institute can be used for rearing species that are often sought by commercial and game fishermen, including tuna, sailfin, marlin, dolphin and king mackerel."

In the experiment, Charles A. Mayo, a graduate student at the Institute, succeeded in rearing herring, anchovy, sea trout, flounder, flyingfish, pigfish, grunt, searobin, pinfish, goby, damselfish and trunkfish.

Observations of the development of the eggs and larval fishes were recorded, photographs taken, and individual specimens preserved for later study.

Many fishes are difficult to identify until long after they have hatched. The data from this study fills a functional structure, behavior, and growth of fishes in their early stages of development.

Mayo's observations may also give clues to the biological, chemical and physical processes in the sea which are important to the survival of fish larvae.

Under such carefully controlled experimental conditions, the eggs could be conducted at the amounts of pollution that might stop fish eggs from hatching, or retard or prevent larvae from growing.

Computer Help for Fuzzy Photos

(American Institute of Physics)

Research is producing techniques that enable the photographs to be improved with computers.

In a paper given at an Optical Society of America meeting in San Diego, Dr. James H. Harris of Scripps Institution of Oceanography explained how the computer methods make possible the reconstruction of detail that cameras cannot record.

Blurred photographs are not always caused by lack of ability on the part of the photographer. The astronomer, for example, must make photographs through an unstable atmosphere.

The resulting pictures are similar to the distortion by rising heat waves of the distant objects on a hot day.

Unavoidable blurring is also produced by the necessity of focusing on one part of a depth of field. If the scene includes a fast-moving object, the photographer may be unable to make an exposure short enough to stop the motion.

He must decide whether to try to follow the object, in which case the background will be blurred, or hold the camera stationary. In which case the moving object will be blurred.

To correct such pictures with a computer, it is necessary to first reduce the picture to a set of numbers which describe the brightness of each point. This is done with scanning equipment similar to that used for transmitting wirephoto pictures such as we see in newspapers.

The next step is to instruct the computer as to the nature of the defect. This is done by stating how each point in the scene has been blurred.

For example, in the case of a moving object, the computer then uses this information to determine what scene, when subjected to the specified blur, would produce a picture similar to the recorded one.

Computer processing of blurred images can never produce pictures as good as those taken without blur.

There is no substitute for high quality photographs; but when the blur cannot be avoided, significant improvement in picture quality can be achieved with computer processing.

First Step Is Taken For Revitalization Of Granite City Business District

It's going on in hundreds of cities all over the nation.

City redevelopment, rehabilitation, modernization, or something else; from minor face-lifting to massive urban renewal, the Central Business District is getting the attention it deserves from businessmen, from property owners, and from municipal authorities.

Granite City has now joined the big parade. For the first time, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, a specific analysis of this city's business district will be made and alternate remedial proposals submitted by a firm of professional planners.

While only a handful of interested—and concerned—downtown firms have started the ball rolling by contributing funds for this study, it will take the combined effort of all those downtown, together with the city, to implement whatever plan is finally agreed upon.

That a plan must be agreed upon is beyond question. For downtown Granite City, like cities elsewhere, does have problems of vacancies, deterioration, of parking, of traffic congestion, of a general sales lag, of declining property values, all with corresponding less revenue to the city in the form of sales tax, real and personal property taxes.

Whether downtown Granite City's particular problems require a massive remedy or one of lesser scope, it behooves every business firm, every property owner and the city itself to become actively engaged in the solution—or further deterioration and losses to each one are inevitable.

Permanent Commission Idea Attractive But Special Studies Should Not Be Ruled Out

It is frustrating to see a commission established when an individual or group is convinced there is need for immediate legislative action, rather than delay and further study. But it would be a mistake to rule out special commissions entirely, as is being discussed at Springfield.

Rep. Tobias Barry would create permanent House and Senate commissions to deal with public policy areas and equip them with enough money and staff to initiate and complete thorough investigations. This sounds good, but it could limit the legislature's ability to respond when a new development arises and must be dealt with intelligently.

He is right in saying that there has been overlapping and waste, and it would be better if a smaller number of special studies was authorized.

He also may be right in saying that commissions can confuse or complicate an issue and "undercut" advisory committees.

Of course, sometimes a committee may need to be circumvented in its handling of an issue. And the creation of special commissions has injected a lot of fresh and often sound

Diversification Began Long Ago

(Granite City Long-Range Plan)

The Niedringhaus brothers, William and Frederick G., and their successors felt that Granite City should not be a one-city town. In the same year, a city hall was built. It included one jail cell and a store-room for the volunteer fire department's hose cart.

By 1888, the two could boast a dry goods store, a grocer, a drug shop, a publisher, a hotel, a plumber, four doctors and a midwife. (The Press-Record traces its history to 1963).

As of 1890, there were 3122 inhabitants in Granite City. More and more workers wanted to buy homes and a housing shortage developed.

Maygars settled in an area known as Hungary Hollow, later called Lincoln Place, and in 1909 there was an influx of Welsh workers who had been built 50 single-family and 100 lots left vacant for gardens.

Next: The population soars.

Spelling the word "winetown" correctly, Maxine Epstein, 12, seventh grade pupil and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Epstein, won a city-wide contest held at the St. Louis Public Library. She was Betty Parish, an eighth grader. There were 74 pupils of the third to eighth grades on the stage after previous elimination contests involving 3400 pupils of nine schools.

thinking, drawing upon the experience of not only legislators but citizens, many of them expert in a particular field.

It is true that $22,000,000 was appropriated in the most recent biennium for expenses of commissions, but much of this way to reform, state senators and senators. Public members often serve without remuneration.

Granted that citizens occasionally are associated with special interest groups, the legislature still reserves the right to accept or reject their recommendations. There is no way that they could exceed their authority, other than by the force of public opinion, which usually turns out to be sound opinion.

Examples of strong but helpful impacts on public policy are the work of the Constitutional Study Commission in securing voters' approval of a state constitutional convention, and the Commission on Organization of the General Assembly in obtaining lawmaking procedural improvements.

Were the Assembly has enough information to set policy, it should do so.

Where an issue needs to be kept alive but where facts are too obscure to indicate an immediate course of action, commissions can make a valuable contribution to effective and enlightened government.

Adequate Military Defense Vital to the Achievement of All American Objectives

Thanks to such disarmament-minded leaders as Senator Fulbright, the late President Eisenhower's warning about "the military-industrial complex" received the principal attention in recollections of his farewell address in 1961 after eight years as chief executive.

Unfortunately, the caution against allowing defense planners and producers to acquire excessive influence is usually taken out of context and given magnified attention. This may be understandable, since it was unusual for a former military man to "point the finger" at his comrades in arms. But we also wonder if an attempt is being made to alter the meaning so that it appears he felt we might not even need the military-industrial complex.

What he also said was that the military establishment is "a vital element in keeping the peace." He added that, "Our arms must be mighty, ready for instant action, so that no potential aggressor may be tempted to risk his own destruction."

"Until the latest of our world conflicts, the United States had no armaments industry. American makers of plowshares could, with time and as required, make swords as well. But now we can no longer produce emergency improvisation of national defense. We have been compelled to create a permanent armaments industry of vast proportions."

His point was clearly that, while no one segment of our nation should be permitted to become all-powerful, no American policy or hope or objective would have much meaning if we did not have the men in uniform, equipment for them to use, and plants in which to produce the equipment.

It is unfortunate, but death is so permanent that it is sometimes who live on are sometimes tempted to take liberties with past facts, knowing that the subject cannot personally respond. However, President Eisenhower's views are so well documented that no distortion is likely to succeed.

His position probably is best summarized by still another quotation from his summary of his eight years in office: "I am sometimes tempted to give expression to America's prayerful and continuing aspiration. We pray that peoples of all faiths, all races, all nations may have their human needs satisfied; that those now denied opportunity shall come to enjoy it to the full."

"That all who yearn for freedom may experience its spiritual blessing; that all who are insensitive to the needs of others will learn charity."

"That the scourges of poverty, disease and ignorance will be made to disappear from the earth; and that, in the goodness of time, all peoples will come to live together in a peace guaranteed by the binding force of mutual respect and love."

Law Sets Limits for Teenagers Who are Summer Job Hunters

Teenage summer job hunters between the hours of 7 p.m. and will find their pursuit limited 7 a.m.

They are some of the jobs youngsters under 16 can hold? They can sell or distribute magazines and newspapers anytime when school is not in session or do housework. And anyone more than 12 years of age can be a caddy at a golf course.

In order to hold most other jobs, an employment certificate issued by the city or county supervisor is required. A duly authorized agent, must be obtained.

A youngster must apply in person for an employment certificate. He should be accompanied by a parent or guardian and should bring the following:

(1) A statement from this prospective employer describing the nature of the work he will be doing and specifying the exact hours and days of employment.

(2) Evidence of his age, preferably a birth certificate.

(3) A statement from his Illinois school principal or his guardian if he is to be employed only during school vacations.

(4) A statement of physical fitness signed by a public health or public school physician, who has examined him.

More than enough salt is present in bread, frozen foods, soups and meats, as well as many all prepared foods.

FROM THE STATEHOUSE

LT. GOV. PAUL SIMON

Parochial School Aid: What Will Happen?

For the first time in recent history, there is substantial discussion about the possibility of state aid to private schools. In his message to the legislature, Governor Ogilvie suggested that $32 million be earmarked for this purpose.

What are the prospects? What are the constitutional problems? Why are we discussing such plans?

We are discussing the plans because private schools in the state are running into financial trouble. There are $20,000 students in private (mostly church-related) grade schools and high schools in Illinois.

Keeping the private systems alive is a financial savings to the state. It also has the healthy aspect of providing a means of comparison. In some ways, private schools are obviously superior to the public schools; this stimulates the public schools to try harder.

There are basically two proposals for help: First, a flat scholarship grant to all parents of parochial school children. Talk varies as to the extent of that grant but it is generally conceived at around $50 per pupil.

The second proposal is for aid in specific areas: transportation, non-religious textbooks, and things of that sort.

Both proposals have raised questions about constitutionality.

The federal constitution does not appear to be a barrier. There is no "wall of separation between church and state" which many people talk about. We as a nation did try a successful experiment of not having an established church, but it has worked well for both church and state.

But there are no absolute barriers. When the local Methodist church starts on fire, no one says "Separation of church and state! We can't call out the fire department!"

The federal constitution demands caution in the field, so that the rights of none are trampled upon.

The Illinois constitution is much more restrictive than the federal constitution. Many programs which the state now carries on are clearly unconstitutional, but continue because they are needed and no one brings the matter into court.

It is highly doubtful that a scholarship proposal would be constitutional in Illinois.

However, aid to private schools for driver's education, for transportation, for help in inner-city situations all appear to be constitutional in Illinois and would appear to be the wisest course to be followed.

Feelings are strong on both sides and it cuts across church and party lines. Catholics are divided; Protestants are divided; Republicans are divided; Democrats are divided.

It is less of an emotional issue than it would have been 10 years ago, but it will still be one of the "hot" issues during the remaining weeks of the legislative session.

More Retirement Thoughtfulness

(The Family Economist)

While today's lively youth makes headlines, there is lots of evidence that their retired grandparents are just as spryly.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur V., now in their mid-60's, decided to change their whole way of life. They have retired from their long-time jobs in Akron, Ohio, and set out for Florida and new horizons.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. are staying put in California. But he is turning a weekend hobby—woodworking—into a means of keeping busy and also making some money by doing carpentry jobs.

Meanwhile, his wife takes care of their youngest grandchild while their daughter works.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. decided against selling their New Jersey home. But they plan to travel more now and will spend their winters in Arizona.

The experience of these and many other grandparents serves to illustrate that more and more married couples are enjoying life.

And because of the medical discoveries of the past half-century, chances are that an increasing number of husbands and wives will both survive into their retirement years.

At present a young husband and wife (say he's 25, she's 22) have a rather favorable prospect of a long married life.

Two out of three of these couples will live to celebrate their wife's 60th birthday.

That is why more than nine million people in this age group currently own private hospital expense insurance to fill in the gaps in their Medicare benefits.

Last year, payments of more than $220 million were made by private health insurance companies to people in the over-60 group with hospital expense benefits.

The evidence can be seen in the development of private health and health insurance plans as well as Social Security and Medicare.

More than 26 million active workers belong to private pension plans, including almost seven million in insured plans.

One out of six couples expect to celebrate together the wife's 75th birthday.

The brightening longevity picture has naturally influenced many changes in the nation's economic, medical, social and political thinking.

The evidence can be seen in the development of private health and health insurance plans as well as Social Security and Medicare.

Kiwanis Honor GC Teachers with Long Service

Irwin Slate Jr., local lawyer, was guest speaker at the Kiwanis dinner Monday evening to honor teachers in the Community Unit School District Nine with 35 years or more service. He was introduced by Freeman Wolfe.

In his talk, Slate commended the teachers on their dedicated service to the community and apologized for the inequities afforded them during their years of service. He compared the teachers as bridge builders, "who have forced the chasm but remained to build a bridge to make it easier for the youth that follows to cross the chasm."

Slate told the group of the help he had received from many teachers during his scholastic years in Granite City, and the help they offered him in the Granite City District.

In commenting on the civil disobedience of the dissenters in schools and colleges today, he said a person committing a civil disobedience should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

William Herman presented the guest speaker with a certificate at the conclusion of his talk.

Melvin Gillie welcomed the teachers and presented each with a corsage or boutonniere and a gift. Miss Pearl Morgan was the recipient of the floral table centerpiece as a special prize.

The special guests were Lawrence McCauley, Miss Frances Lynch, Miss Pearl Morgan, Walter Klein, Mrs. June Von Gruenigen, Miss Eleanor Wadlington, Miss Louise Dexheimer, Miss Dorothy Van Gruenigen, Miss Virginia Segar, Harold Thomas, Miss Mary Friday, Alfred Krumsiek, Mrs. Edna Lynn, Miss Mabel Stewart and Mrs. Lucy Weaver.

Their combined years of service amounted to 613.

Edward Moore, president, announced the work crew for the construction of the flag pole at Civic Park should be ready to work at noon. The erection of the pole is to take place at 11 a.m. Saturday, and dedication ceremonies are planned for May 24.

An inter-city meeting is to be held with the Hamel Club today with Peter Jellen, Norman Hall, Marvin Barnes, Moore and Garvin Butler attending.

The Office of Economic Opportunity this week approved federal funds totaling $131,932 for operation of the summer Head Start pre-school program in Madison county schools, it was announced yesterday in Washington, D. C., by U. S. Congressman Melvin Price, (D), East St. Louis.

The grant was awarded the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission which administers the pre-kindergarten training program in cooperation with school authorities.

The federal grant, supplemented by $27,000 in local funds, mostly contributed through "in-kind" services, will enable 900 Madison county children to participate in the six-week training series, Rep. Price advised.

Head Start classes in the Quad-City area are scheduled to begin in mid-June.

School Bus Contract up $14,000; Another Rise Next Year

A new bus transportation contract with Bi-State Transit System, increased $14,000 over last year's contract of $209,844, was approved by the Granite City board of education Monday night after a second bid call failed to result in additional proposals.

The new Bi-State contract also provides for an automatic increase in the yearly cost figure for the 1970-71 school year to $223,020.

Comptroller V. G. Anderson reported to the board that although the district has had a three-year contract with Bi-State in the past, a two-year contract was necessary this year because Bi-State bus drivers negotiated a two-year contract recently.

Total cost of transportation of Granite City pupils for the 1969-70 year was set at $215,400 on the basis of 180 days operation at an estimated daily cost of $1197. The cost of $223,020 for the 1970-71 school year is based on an estimated daily cost of $1239.

Only One Bid
In its original bid call earlier this year the district received only one bid from Bi-State Transit System. The bid was returned unopened and a second bid call was issued for May 5. Bi-State again was the only bidder, Anderson told the board.

The board also approved a series of contract awards for furnishing supplies and services to the school district during its approaching 1969-70 school year. Virtually all of the awards were based on low bids and the few that were not involved a question of quality rather than low price, according to Anderson.

For furnishing art supplies, the board approved selection of low bid prices by 13 vendors for a total of $14,480 and for instructional supplies accepted offers of five different firms in an amount totaling $3958.

The American Bindery, Inc., was awarded the contract for binding library books on a low bid of $1.71 per book. The bid was the lowest of three.

Ten different firms were approved for furnishing vocational shop equipment on the basis of low bids for items specified, for a total cost of $8955. Six bidding firms were accepted on low bids for furnishing vocational education equipment at a total cost of $5988.

Buy Key Machine

Key and Lock Supply Co., lowest of five bidders, was selected to supply a key cutting machine, key blanks and cylinders for a total cost of $550.

Westinghouse Electric Supply Co. was the lowest bidder for furnishing six new water coolers at a total price of $1100. Nine bids were received on the coolers which are for replacement in various schools.

Offer of Beckley-Cardy Co. was accepted to provide new clocks at a cost of $9.36 each if bought in lots of 12, or the same price each bought in additional lots of six. The firm's bid was the lowest of five.

Six bidding vendors were recommended for supplying records for music and physical education programs at a total of $387, and two firms were approved for furnishing printed forms at a total cost of $913.

On the motion of Member George Moore, the board authorized the administration to prepare plans and specifications for replacement of the steam line at the high school and Coolidge junior high school where a number of breaks have been occurring.

Breaks are Costly

Tulley A. Huebner, director of building and grounds, told the board that breaks have been paired through use of clamps around the ruptured sections. He estimated that each break costs from $175 to $300 for repairs.

Huebner estimated that cost of replacing the steam lines would run about $40,000 if an underground system was installed, as compared to about $100,000 for an overhead system.

The board authorized retaining Belt & Given Consulting Engineers, Inc., for engineering services on the project. An offer by the engineering firm to do the engineering work for completion of the school district's program of compliance with the Life Safety code, also was approved during the meeting.

The proposal covers engineering services for revisions to the existing boiler rooms as required to meet specifications of the Health and Safety code of the Webster, Washington, McKinley, Nameoki, Mitchell and the senior high school.

Quote Engineering Rates

Rates quoted by the engineering firm at $15 per hour for the professional engineer, $12 per hour for design and drafting time and $5 per hour for secretarial work.

Also approved as a request by Ernest Viehl, a member of the graduating class of 1919 and chairman of class reunion activities to observe the class' 50th anniversary this year, that members of the 1919 class be recognized during granite exercises at the high school.

Approximately 20 members of the class are expected to attend the reunion program. The board approved a schedule that will call for recognition of the group by the superintendent of schools, their names read by the principal of the high school and miniature diplomas distributed.

ONLY MEMBERS
OF THE G.C. BOARD OF REALTORS ARE LISTED ON THIS PAGE

An Open Letter To The General Public (Regarding the Profession of Real Estate)

Did you know that just any Real Estate Man is not a "REALTOR" and that a "REALTOR" is not just any Real Estate man?

A "REALTOR" is a "TRUE FULL TIME" (he has no other job) PROFESSIONAL BUSINESS MAN pledged to a STRICT CODE OF ETHICS in all real estate transactions with the general public. A man of great knowledge, character, and experience. A highly trained PROFESSIONAL who knows what he is doing at all times and who subscribes fully to the rigid rules and regulations of the CODE OF ETHICS as laid down by the LOCAL, STATE and NATIONAL Real Estate Boards of America. A man of pride and action. A full time PROFESSIONAL who has proudly earned the right to use the term "REALTOR."

THE REALTOR'S PLEDGE

To protect the individual right of real estate ownership and to widen the opportunity to enjoy it;

To be honorable and honest in all dealings;

To seek better to represent my clients by building my knowledge and competence;

To act fairly towards all in the spirit of the Golden Rule;

To serve well my community, and through it my country;

To observe the Realtor's Code of Ethics and conform my conduct to its lofty ideals.

So when you think of Real Estate "always call a REALTOR." He will serve you well; you can "always reach him"; he is "always there" (he is never away working at some "more important" job to earn a living); and you can be "SURE" that you can buy, sell, rent, or lease homes or property with Safety, Confidence and Dignity.

SIGNED: The Granite City Board of "REALTORS" Members LOCAL, STATE, & NATIONAL Real Estate Boards of America

Steve Stagner, a Granite City high school sophomore and winner of the Optimist local and zone oratorical contests, will compete this weekend for district honors at Pekin, Ill.

The 15-year-old youth captured first place in the local contest in March and won in zone competition on April 2, at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fentress Stagner, 3145 Carlson avenue.

The district oratorical event will be conducted during the annual District Eight convention, which gets under way tomorrow and concludes Sunday at the Holiday Inn, Pekin. A delegation from the Granite City Optimist Club is expected to attend.

Stagner was rated the top speaker last year in both local and zone competition and placed third in the Optimist district finals. His speech will be based on the topic "Respect for Law—Cornerstone of Citizenship."

The youths are judged on four points: Organization of material, including adherence to subject matter and value of content; delivery and presentation, such as voice, enunciation, pronunciation, gestures; over-

The first place international finalist will receive a $2000 scholarship, while four runner-up candidates each receive $1000 awards.

Tickets and coupon books for the Mississippi River Festival are now on sale throughout the two-state metropolitan area.

In the Quad-Cities, coupon books, containing $25 worth of coupons are available for $20 at the First National Bank in season.

Ticket prices for individual performances are: Boxes, $5.50; front sections, $4.50; center rear section, $3.50; side rear sections, $2.50; and lawn seating at $1.50 for adults and $1 for children under 12 years.

The open-air Festival site on the SIU-SW campus will accommodate what has been described as "the largest horizontal audience in this area." The expression was used recently by Stanley J. Goodman, president of the St. Louis Symphony Society, co-sponsors of the Festival with the local university.

Goodman noted that 10,000 people will be able to lie or lounge on the sloping lawn outside the specially-designed tent which will hold the orchestra and 1800 patrons seated on canvas directors chairs. The Festival site is a natural amphitheatre and has parking nearby for 3500 cars.

There will be buffet and snack bar facilities available and bus service is planned to the campus from area communities. Bus schedules will be arranged to allow concert-goers time for an early picnic dinner, it was learned.

Announcement was made this week by Festival officials of the formation of a College Committee to work closely with universities and junior colleges in Greater St. Louis in promoting awareness and interest in the six week musical attraction.

Named to the committee were Mrs. Lewis R. Mills, chairman, Mrs. Sherman Logan, Mrs. John G. Sanders Jr., Mrs. Donald L. Fleming and Mrs. Bernard Schneider.
